

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A virtually parallel multiplier-accumulator (VMAC) that can execute more than or less than one MAC operation in a single system clock cycle. The inventive VMAC advantageously employs a resource/time-sharing methodology with multiple sequential computational stages.